BioMarin is committed to providing personalized patient support to help your child start and continue their prescribed therapy.

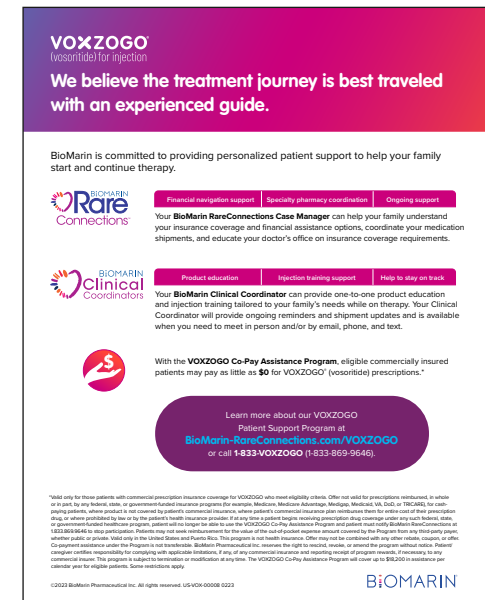

VOXZOGO is a specialty drug

Specialty drugs like VOXZOGO can require a few extra steps compared with regular prescriptions. As a specialty drug, most insurance companies require approval before VOXZOGO can be dispensed by the specialty pharmacy.

We understand that a key part of feeling comfortable with starting VOXZOGO is knowing that your family will have ongoing access to the medication. Since every family's journey to receiving VOXZOGO can be different, BioMarin provides families with access at no-cost to BioMarin RareConnections™, our program to help you start and gain continued access to treatment.

Requesting coverage

Once you and your doctor decide that VOXZOGO is right for your child, the process of requesting insurance coverage approval begins. BioMarin RareConnections will provide your doctor's office with the education needed to help work through the approval process, even in cases when your insurance company may not initially approve it. Once approved, your insurance company may require reapprovals at regular intervals throughout treatment to continue therapy. BioMarin RareConnections Case Managers are knowledgeable, experienced, and ready to help you establish and maintain VOXZOGO coverage.

Continuing Therapy and Maintaining Insurance

Treatment reauthorization

Once your child begins treatment with a specialty drug such as VOXZOGO® (vosoritide), it's common for insurance plans to require reauthorizations to continue coverage. Review the following information to learn about reauthorization so you know what to expect and to see how RareConnections™ and your specialty pharmacy help in the process of keeping your child on VOXZOGO.

Managing insurance plan changes

Many factors can affect your current health insurance plan and coverage, such as changing jobs, moving, marital status, and more. Changing health plans may require new authorizations or approvals to continue VOXZOGO. BioMarin RareConnections helps families avoid potential access issues by checking in annually to assess changes that may affect your insurance coverage.

Reauthorization requirements

Rules about how and when a specialty drug must be reauthorized vary between insurance companies. Your specialty pharmacy and BioMarin RareConnections are experienced at anticipating reauthorization needs and will reach out to your doctor's office to ensure your insurance company receives the proper documents, such as baseline growth measurements.

- ▶ Inform your doctor and your BioMarin RareConnections Case Manager or Clinical Coordinator as soon as possible of any life changes that may affect your insurance coverage.

- ▶ Be proactive.
 - Ask your doctor's office, specialty pharmacy, and insurance company when reapproval of the claim is expected and mark it on your calendar.
 - Be sure your doctor has recorded your child's baseline growth measurements
 - Ask what information will likely be required for reapproval and arrange appointments to obtain documentation, as needed. Examples: baseline growth measurements, other growth measurements, and proof of open growth plates.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is VOXZOGO used for?

- VOXZOGO is a prescription medicine used to increase linear growth in children with achondroplasia and open growth plates (epiphyses).
- VOXZOGO is approved under accelerated approval based on an improvement in annualized growth velocity. Continued approval may be contingent upon verification and description of clinical benefit in confirmatory trials.

What is the most important safety information about VOXZOGO?

- VOXZOGO may cause serious side effects including a temporary decrease in blood pressure in some patients. To reduce the risk of a decrease in blood pressure and associated symptoms (dizziness, feeling tired, or nausea), patients should eat a meal and drink 8 to 10 ounces of fluid within 1 hour before receiving VOXZOGO.

What are the most common side effects of VOXZOGO?

- The most common side effects of VOXZOGO include injection site reactions (including redness, itching, swelling, bruising, rash, hives, and injection site pain), high levels of blood alkaline phosphatase shown in blood tests, vomiting, joint pain, decreased blood pressure, and stomach ache. These are not all the possible side effects of VOXZOGO. Ask your healthcare provider for medical advice about side effects, and about any side effects that bother the patient or that do not go away.

How is VOXZOGO taken?

- VOXZOGO is taken daily as an injection given under the skin, administered by a caregiver after a healthcare provider determines the caregiver is able to administer VOXZOGO. Do not try to inject VOXZOGO until you have been shown the right way by your healthcare provider. - The dose of VOXZOGO is based on body weight. Your healthcare provider will adjust the dose based on changes in weight following regular check-ups.
- Your healthcare provider will monitor the patient's growth and tell you when to stop taking VOXZOGO if they determine the patient is no longer able to grow. Stop administering VOXZOGO if instructed by your healthcare provider.
